

International Business Name Watch

Fact Sheet

Identify potential conflicts with your business name worldwide

Global economic expansion is creating a flood of new business names. Monitoring business names around the globe to ensure they do not conflict with your name is a crucial component of a robust brand protection strategy.

CompuMark's International Business Name Watch makes it easy to safeguard your valuable brand from infringement, reporting on business name use worldwide to help identify potential conflicts.

Quality data, quality insights

To ensure comprehensive coverage, International Business Name Watch covers a broad range of common law sources, including news and media outlets, mergers and acquisition records, government registries and financial data. This reduces the risk of missing important findings, so you can make decisions with confidence.

Our in-depth analysis identifies related business entities helping you understand critical relationships and market dynamics.

Key features

- Results delivered to Watch on SERION®, enabling immediate review
- Monthly reports
- Covers identical and similar names
- Results delivered in Word

Value proposition

Stay ahead of risk with international transparency

Many small and medium enterprises (SMEs) do not register their names. How can you protect your brand when you may not even be aware of infringement? Lack of vigilance could result in not only market confusion but long-term harm to your brand as well.

Complement CompuMark's Worldwide Watch with common law data via International Business Name Watch, which covers 212 countries/regions, empowering businesses to thrive in international markets and yield maximum global revenue potential.
