Give your docketing process the attention it deserves

Patent administrative docketing support, data intake and quality analysis services

Often overlooked and frequently under-appreciated, docketing is one of the most critical elements of the IP lifecycle.
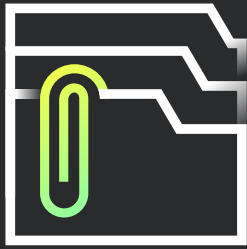

Every patent application has specific due dates, which if missed can result in abandonment of the application. Having up to date, accurate data is critical to successful patent portfolio management.

Docketing support (IP Management Software updates)

Our docketing service provides processing and management of all incoming and outgoing items in your docketing management system. We work directly with you to build and maintain client specific playbooks to ensure all processing is as consistent and accurate as possible.

Choose to use our support as your primary docketing option, or as a secondary docketing solution in parallel with your primary docketing team to help mitigate risk.

Clarivate™

Data intake

Allow our team to alleviate the burden of data intake. As part of our Patent Administrative Services, we validate portfolios across all jurisdictions to ensure the accuracy and completeness of your data, and then seamlessly enter those records directly into your database. Our technology-driven processes, complemented by human oversight, enable your internal team to focus on higher-level, billable tasks while we diligently ensure the completeness of your database records.

Quality analysis

Your clients rely on you to maintain the accuracy and integrity of their data. Our team offers ongoing support to ensure your records remain up to date, deadlines are accurately docketed, and patent families are complete in your database. We serve as a valuable 'second set of eyes,' reviewing your primary docketing activities, including maintenance fee payments and due dates.

Backlog processing

Clarivate offers a number of short-term engagement options to eliminate your docketing backlogs. Whether it's daily docketing or IDS support or docket cleanup, we have the flexibility to dive in quickly and help get you back where you want to be.

Our asset management software and IP Payments integrate advanced portfolio management technology, comprehensive services and world-class IP Rules.
