We understand that our customers and other parties sometimes need to use, reprint or distribute Clarivate content or materials. To the extent that your intended use is not covered by fair use or your customer contract, please send a written request outlining the specific material involved, the approximate number of copies you wish to distribute and the purpose and format of use to our Copyright Office (please see contact information at the end of this page).

United States Digital Millennium Copyright Act

Notification process

If you are contacting us about material included on, or made available via, a Clarivate product or service without appropriate consent or license, please include the information noted below in your notification. Please consult your legal counsel or, if in the U.S., review the U.S Digital Millennium Copyright Act (see 17 U.S.C. Section 512) to confirm these requirements:

- Your physical or electronic signature
- Identification of the copyrighted work claimed to have been infringed
- Information which will help us locate the material on our product or service
- Your complete contact information, including your name, address, telephone number, and email address
- A statement that you have a good faith belief that use of the material in the manner complained of is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law
- A statement that the information in the notification is accurate, and under penalty of perjury, that you are authorized to act as the owner or on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.

If your notification does not substantially comply with this format, we may be unable to properly analyze and respond.

Please note that, pursuant to the DMCA, any person who knowingly materially misrepresents (1) that any material or activity is infringing, or (2) that any material or activity was removed or disabled by mistake or misidentification, will be liable for damages, including costs and attorneys' fees, incurred by the alleged infringer, by any copyright owner or copyright owner's authorized licensee, or by a service provider, who is injured by such misrepresentation, as the result of the service provider relying upon such misrepresentation in removing or disabling access to the material or activity claimed to be infringing, or in replacing the removed material or ceasing to disable access to it. Accordingly, if you are not sure whether certain material or activity infringes your copyright, please consult with a qualified attorney.

Counter-notification process

If you receive a notice that material you posted to a Clarivate product or services is being blocked or removed due to a copyright infringement allegation, you may send us a counter notice explaining why you believe the blocking or removal is in error. Again, please consult your legal counsel or, if in the U.S., review the U.S Digital Millennium Copyright Act (see 17 U.S.C. Section 512) to confirm these requirements. To be effective, such notice must be in writing and include the following:

- Your physical or electronic signature
- Identification of the copyrighted work blocked or removed
- Information which will help us locate where the material had appeared on our product or service
- Your complete contact information, including your name, address, telephone number, and email address
- A statement that you have a good faith belief that removal or blocking of the material was the result of a mistake or misidentification
- A statement that you consent to the jurisdiction of Federal District Court for the judicial district in which your address is located, or if you are outside the United States, the judicial district in which we are located, and that you will accept service of process from the person who contacted us regarding the alleged infringement person, or his or her agent.

Please send your notice to the Clarivate Copyright Agent (see contact information below).
