

Brian J. King

Head of Government and Industry Relations

Brian coordinates policy efforts across IP products at Clarivate, including trademarks, patents, case law and domain names. He is an advocate for IP and internet policy that protects the rights and promotes the interests of IP owners globally. Brian has spent over a decade in many technical, legal, and business leadership roles with domain name registrars and IP companies, and is an IP subject matter expert on the Corporate Strategy team at Clarivate. He also serves on the International Trademark Association (INTA) Data Protection Committee and is Vice President of ICANN's IP Constituency.