

David Marques

Principal Consultant, Litigation Products & Strategy

David is a legal analyst and IP consultant, specializing in litigation information, trends and data. At Clarivate, David drives the product vision concerning new platforms and algorithms that leverage litigation data to assist companies in their risk assessment, competition analysis and litigation strategy. Recently, David has been leading the development and integration of AI-based microservices which provide accurate legal risk analysis and data in the context of IP filing and prosecution.