Filing for Patents

The claims and abstract must be filed in Russian or Uzbek, but the description may be filed in any language. A translation into Russian or Uzbek is required after two months. A formal examination is carried out two months after the filing date, or earlier if the applicant so requests. If the results of a search by an international or foreign searching authority are not available, a search is carried out at the Russian Patent Office. Substantive examination must be requested within three years of the filing date.

Following a decision to grant the patent, an announcement is made in the Official Bulletin. Opposition may be filed at any time.
